

أ. غادة عوض شوقي

مدير مشروع ورقتي السابق

human rights expert and a prominent lawyer. She was a member of Arab & Sudan Bar Associations (1995-2006) and a former holder of the prestigious British Chevening scholarship (2006-2007). She holds Masters in Human Rights Law from Queen's University of Belfast /UK as well Masters in International Law and LLB (Honors) in law from University of Khartoum and PhD in Minority Rights and Accommodation of Diversity from University of Cape Town, South Africa. She owns more than 15 years of extensive experience in law, human rights and human development as well as conflict resolution and peace building. Her track records include well established expertise in result-based management, policy advisory, right-based programming, conflict sensitive planning and integration of gender and human rights considerations into humanitarian assistance. She previously worked as a senior lawyer in her own country (Sudan) where she assumed several positions as human rights advisor for a number of national and international entities. During her legal practice she was renowned for her support to notable initiatives to protect human and women's rights in her own country and across the African and the Arab regions. She started her career with the UN as Women, Peace and Security Advisor, UNIFEM/UNWOMEN Sudan (March 2009-October 2011) where she supported the integration of women's rights in the peace processes in Darfur, East Sudan and South Kordofan. Then she worked for UNDP as the manager for the regional project Prompting Women's Rights and Legal Empowerment, UNDP/Kuwait (November 2011- October 2013). Where she established the regional project (Wracati), which is the first of its kind on the Gulf region. Then she appointed as the first Arabic speaking Senior Women Protection Advisor to join the team of the Secretary General Representative to combat sexual violence in conflict (SRSG/SVC).